

Children's Board Participates in Annual Black Heritage Festival Jan. 15

TAMPA, FL (Jan. 15, 2011) – The Children's Board sponsored and was an active participant in WTBN radio's live remote broadcast at the annual Black Heritage Festival on Saturday, Jan. 15, 2011 at Curtis Hixon Park in downtown Tampa.

The Children's Board had informational giveaways at WTBN's booth near the main stage. Two of the live broadcasts on WTBN that day featured the Children's Board's Amy Pettila, director of public policy and advocacy, and Dr. Arlinda Amos, ombudsman, from CBHC. Children's Board Chair Valerie Goddard, a WTBN radio host, interviewed Pettila. Pastor Stephen Nunn, another WTBN radio host, interviewed Amos.

Pictured: Children's Board member Pete Edwards took his grandson to the Black Heritage Festival in downtown Tampa on Jan. 15. He stopped by the WTBN Radio booth to spin the wheel for various prizes, including Children's Board informational giveaways. In the morning, Children's Board chair Valerie Goddard, a weekend WTBN host, interviewed Children's Board Director of Policy and Advocacy Amy Pettila (lower left) and in the afternoon, Pastor Stephen Nunn interviewed Children's Board ombudsperson Arlinda Amos (upper right).